May 3, 2018

Scripps is entering the final few days of our proxy contest with GAMCO. The vote will be counted at our annual meeting of shareholders next Thursday, May 10.

If you haven't already done so, we hope you will support Scripps by sending in your WHITE voting card or by voting online for the company slate of directors: Lauren R. Fine, Roger L. Ogden and Kim Williams. If you need instructions on how to vote, click here. If your shares are held in a Merrill Lynch brokerage account and you have not voted, click here for instructions on accessing the proxy information.

The company has gained significant momentum since implementing a new strategic plan last fall. We are working together to better position this company for continued growth and we are beginning to see tangible results. Failure to elect our candidates threatens to derail the board and company from fully executing this strategic plan -- the foundation for the work we do to serve our local and national audiences and advertisers.

The leading independent proxy advisory firm Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. (ISS) has supported us by recommending its clients vote against the GAMCO nominees. To read more about the ISS recommendation, click here.

Your vote is important to the future of our company.

Thanks,

Adam
